A LETTER FROM OUR CHAIR

Giving with Grace

Welcome to the second edition of our family newsletter. This has been a season of milestones, and a reminder of why this work matters.

The milestones in these pages tell a single story. Haven for Hope and August Heart are each turning fifteen this year, proof of what steady, patient generosity can build over time. And Dad's ninetieth birthday gives us the chance to celebrate the example he set for all of us. That patience is our family's guiding principle to stay invested in the institutions we believe in. We can give for the long term, stay close to the people doing the hardest work, and keep our word year after year.

I am also thrilled to welcome Kim Harle Solis as our first full-time Executive Director. With Kim's leadership and our family's steady commitment, we are strongly positioned for the necessary work ahead.

My hope, as always, is that these pages keep us close to the conviction that has guided this family from the start: that we are never truly successful until we lift others along with us.

Celebrating 90 Years

In June this summer, our family gathered to celebrate Dad's 90th birthday. For someone who has spent a lifetime turning success into service, the only real question was how to honor him. It was a day of family, food, and laughter, exactly the kind of gathering Dad loves, and a fitting way to mark ninety years of a life given to others.

THE SURPRISE · A TRIBUTE TO ST. MARY'S UNIVERSITY

Ninety years of generosity deserved more than a speech, so we planned a surprise, one that lights up the place that already carries his name and gives the next generation of students a reason to cheer for years to come. More than that, it honors St. Mary's University, his alma mater, where his education set the foundation for all he would go on to achieve — and returns a measure of that success to the students who follow him.

For Dad's 90th, his family and friends renewed the arena that carries his name at St. Mary's University. Bill Greehey Arena, the 3,800-seat home of the Rattlers since 2000, will receive a complete overhaul of its video boards and multiple new scoreboards, with installation set for summer 2026. It is the kind of gift that reflects the man himself: given quietly, meant to last, and built to inspire long after the lights come on.

Haven for Hope at Fifteen

HAVEN'S CAMPUS BEARS THE NAME OF ITS FOUNDING CHAMPION, BILL GREEHEY

Homelessness is, at its core, a health crisis: a 40-year-old living on our streets carries the same risk of dying as a 60-year-old who is housed. On a single night last year, 3,625 of our neighbors had nowhere to sleep, nearly half for the first time, and the fastest-growing group among them is children.

Haven for Hope was built to change that, and our parents helped build it. The idea began with our mother. After she saw a television segment on the scale of homelessness in San Antonio and the need it laid bare, she and Dad made the decision together to act. Before breaking ground, they spent eighteen months researching more than 200 homeless shelters nationwide to shape a model that would last. Dad then raised the original $100 million to open the 22-acre campus in 2010, and his leadership has since helped restore more than 30,000 people to stable footing.

There is no better way to say it: Haven is a good deal. Many homelessness initiatives are measured on effectiveness alone, with little regard for ongoing cost. Haven stands apart as an existing, efficient intervention that already operates at scale. Its average cost is just $37.70 per person per day, against $87.17 for a night in Bexar County jail and $3,441 for a day in a Texas hospital. An independent study has twice validated that value: for every $1 invested, Haven returns $42 in community benefits.

52,108	$37.70	$42 : $1	65%
PEOPLE SERVED IN 15 YRS	COST PER PERSON, PER DAY	RETURN ON INVESTMENT*	STAY HOUSED AFTER ONE STAY

An independent study has twice validated that every $1 invested in Haven returns about $42 to the community through employment, health care, reduced crime, and stable housing. By comparison, Haven's $37.70 daily cost per person runs well below a night in jail or a day in the hospital.*

Despite that record, new investment is needed, because Haven's most impactful outcome is now at risk. For the 65% of people who stay housed after a single stay, we simply need more beds: since Haven opened, San Antonio's population has grown 24% while the number of shelter beds in the community has grown just 3%. Haven's six-year, $15 million "Haven is Home" plan is built to close that gap, and is now within about $4 million of its goal.

THE FOUNDATION'S COMMITMENT

A $1.5 million gift toward the "Haven is Home" capital plan, paid in full this year, in addition to the $500,000 the Foundation provides every year for Haven's day-to-day operations. In June, the Foundation also committed to Phase 3 of the capital campaign, focused on needed maintenance and property updates.

HAVEN GIVING TO DATE

Between the Greehey family's personal giving and the Foundation, almost $25 million has been invested in Haven for Hope to date. It is a commitment that began when Dad helped raise the original $100 million to open the campus, and it continues with support every year.

A Heartbeat Worth Protecting

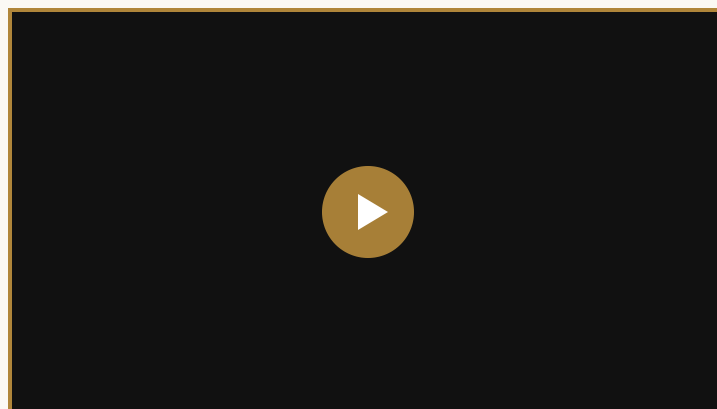

August Koontz was a senior at Central Catholic High School, an athlete with his sights set on TCU, when he died in his sleep at age eighteen from an undiagnosed heart condition, hypertrophic cardiomyopathy. A simple twenty-minute screening could have prevented his death. In May 2011, out of that loss, his parents Doré and Bart Koontz founded August Heart so that no other San Antonio family would have to learn the cost of a test left undone.

Fifteen years later, that promise has become one of the most respected teen heart-screening programs in the country. Every screening is free, regardless of a family's ability to pay, and takes about twenty minutes: an electrocardiogram for every teen, and an echocardiogram when a closer look is needed, read on the spot by board-certified cardiologists alongside sonographers and technicians, in partnership with San Antonio's major health systems. Active teens look healthy, so the danger behind sudden cardiac death almost always remains hidden until it is too late. That is exactly what makes the screening so valuable: for roughly $5,000 it can detect the one student in 179 who is at serious risk.

This May, August Heart crossed a remarkable milestone: more than 100,000 teens screened, with hundreds of at-risk young people identified and sent on to care, and a single-year record of more than 10,000 screenings. To honor the anniversary, the Foundation's $150,000 matching gift doubles every community dollar raised this year, turning that milestone into momentum to reach more students, more schools, and more families with these critical screenings.

Our Foundation's 2026 Giving at a Glance

Against a community where need is climbing and public support is contracting, the Board weighed 135 requests in June and approved about $8.55 million across more than 80 organizations, including the milestone gifts that anchor the year. With a $15 million goal for 2026, the remaining balance is held in reserve for the fall.

A Strategic Year

Beyond individual grants, the Board sharpened how it gives: deeper due diligence on every request, a thoughtful policy for first-time partners, and reserves held for a fall cycle so the Foundation can respond as the year's needs become clear.

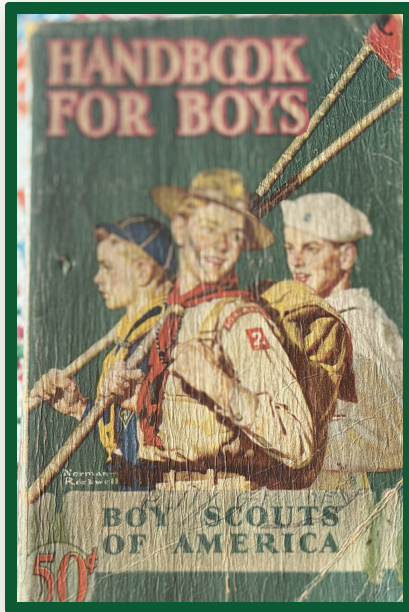

SHARPENING OUR GOVERNANCE

This year the Board adopted an enhanced confidentiality policy, a consolidated conflict-of-interest policy, and a thoughtful standard for first-time grants. With deeper due diligence on every request, we are building a foundation as disciplined as it is generous.

A Place at Camp for Every Child

Camp is close to Dad's heart. As a boy, an anonymous donor sent him to Boy Scout camp, and he never forgot its impact. As summer arrives, the Foundation is helping send San Antonio kids to camp, including children with disabilities and those who might never otherwise go, through partners across the city. Every dollar is designated to support Bexar County children and camperships.

◆ J-Camp at the Barshop JCC

An inclusive day camp welcoming children of all abilities.

◆ Morgan's Camp

An ultra-accessible camp where kids of every ability play side by side.

◆ Believe It Foundation

Sends children with physical disabilities to Camp Hope at T Bar M.

◆ Camp Aranzazu

A barrier-free coastal camp for children with disabilities and medical needs.

◆ Discovery Camps

A week of joyful, normal camp for San Antonio children facing pediatric cancer.

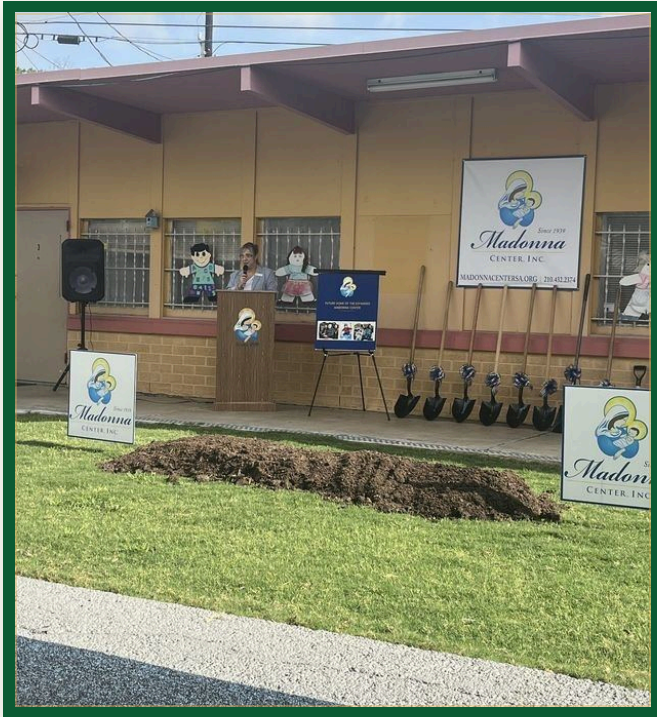

◆ Camp Capers

An Episcopal camp in the Texas Hill Country, where Foundation camperships give kids a classic outdoor summer.

70% of parents say a summer at camp builds their child's self-confidence.

Building Brighter Futures

Beyond the year's milestone gifts, the Foundation's support reaches across San Antonio. The photographs here are from recent visits, groundbreakings, and demo days, moments the Board spent seeing the work up close.

MADONNA CENTER • WEST SIDE

The Foundation gave $350,000 to Madonna Center's children's-center capital campaign, part of more than $562,000 invested to date. Serving the West Side since 1939, Madonna broke ground this spring on safe, modern space for the neighborhood's youngest learners. The children's center campaign has now raised $4.3 million of its $5 million goal. Looking ahead, Madonna is already planning a senior and assistance center for 2027 to meet the growing need for senior resources on the West Side.

~40% of residents in the West Side's core ZIP code (78207) live in poverty, more than double San Antonio's citywide rate of about 18%.

YOUTH ORCHESTRAS OF SAN ANTONIO

The Foundation pledged $250,000 over two years toward YOSA's new home, part of more than $357,000 given to date for its music education, concerts, and in-school programs. At the "Crescendo: A Home for YOSA" celebration, young musicians played inside the former church on Oblate Drive — the first permanent space in YOSA's history. Bought in 2024 for $2.75 million, it is being rebuilt into a 52,000-square-foot campus for some 2,500 student musicians, ages 8 to 20, drawn from 155 schools and 25 districts across San Antonio — many from Title I and low-income schools, for whom YOSA is often the only orchestral opportunity. Roughly $12 million more is pledged for this first phase.

2X Low-income students deeply involved in the arts are twice as likely to earn a college degree as peers with little arts involvement.

At their "All Means All" briefing, CASA shared the goal behind its growth campaign: to stand with every child in Bexar County's foster system, not just the just-over-half it reaches today. CASA serves about 55% of these children now; the plan is to reach 60% in the coming year and 100% by 2035. Getting there means growing from roughly 500 advocates to more than 900, expanding staff and training, and raising the annual budget from $5 million to about $8.2 million. For about $125 a month, CASA can train and support one volunteer advocate for one child. Their advocates already link children to needed services in more than eight of ten cases, stay connected through the 91% of children who change schools each year, and help keep children with family more than half the time.

$125 / month trains and supports one volunteer advocate for a child in foster care — one of the most direct, lasting gifts the Foundation helps make possible, and the engine behind the "All Means All" goal below.

A NEW EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

After a search engaged in 2025 and led by Denise Smith Consulting, the Foundation welcomed Kim Harle Solis as its first full-time Executive Director, a thoughtful step in our evolution: family-governed as always, now with dedicated leadership to guide our day-to-day work.

A native San Antonian with more than twenty years across corporate, nonprofit, and family philanthropy, Kim joins from Endeavors, where she helped lead a faith-based mission spanning health care, housing, and care for veterans and families. Earlier she held leadership roles at the Dobson Family of Foundations, Whataburger, H-E-B, and NASA. She holds a BS in Advertising and a BA in History, with minors in Business and Spanish, from the University of Texas at Austin.

MEET KIM

Kim has given her time to many of the institutions this family cares about, among them Haven for Hope, United Way, and Girls Inc. She and her husband, a San Antonio attorney, are the proud parents of two children, Lina (10) and Nico (12), and two dogs — Buster, a chihuahua, and Snoopy, a hound dog. On weekends, you'll find her and her family cheering on UT sports, the Spurs, and the Astros.

Reach out anytime to say hi. 210-843-7521

Thank you for being part of this family's story of giving.
